

What is claimed is:

1. A spade-pointed coin wrapper.
2. The spade-pointed coin wrapper of claim 1 wherein the material of said wrapper is paper.
3. The spade-pointed coin wrapper of claim 1 wherein the material of said wrapper is plastic.
- 10 4. The spade-pointed coin wrapper of claim 1 wherein the spade point resembles the point of a new spade-pointed garden shovel.
- 5 5. The spade-pointed coin wrapper of claim 1 wherein the spade point resembles the worn-down point of an old garden shovel.
- 15 6. The spade-pointed coin wrapper of claim 1 sized to wrap coins of a predetermined denomination wherein the depth of the edge of the receiving end of the coin wrapper is greater than one thickness of one coin of the predetermined denomination.
- 20 7. The spade-pointed coin wrapper of claim 1 sized to wrap coins of a predetermined denomination wherein the depth of the edge of the receiving end of the coin wrapper is greater than one thickness of one coin of the predetermined denomination.
- 25 8. The spade-pointed coin wrapper of claim 1 sized to wrap coins of a predetermined denomination wherein the depth of the edge of the receiving end of the coin wrapper is greater than two thicknesses of one coin of the predetermined denomination.
- 30 9. The spade-pointed coin wrapper of claim 1 sized to wrap coins of a predetermined denomination wherein the predetermined denomination is selected from among pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, 50-cent pieces, and US-dollar coins.
- 35 10. A coin wrapper comprising:

a tubular body that is adapted to have a substantially circular cross-section and being adapted to enclose a plurality of stacked coins of a predetermined denomination;

5           said coin wrapper having at least one receiving end, wherein the receiving end includes at least one protrusion in the direction of the central axis of the tubular body.

10           11. The coin wrapper of claim 10 wherein the material of said wrapper is paper.

15           12. The coin wrapper of claim 10 wherein the material of said wrapper is plastic.

20           13. The coin wrapper of claim 10 wherein the protrusion resembles the point of a spade-pointed garden shovel.

25           14. The coin wrapper of claim 10 wherein the depth of the protrusion is greater than one thickness of one coin of the predetermined denomination.

30           15. The coin wrapper of claim 10 wherein the depth of the protrusion is greater than two thicknesses of one coin of the predetermined denomination.

35           16. The coin wrapper of claim 15 wherein the depth of the protrusion is greater than two thicknesses of one coin of the predetermined denomination and is less than six thicknesses of one coin of the predetermined denomination.

40           17. The coin wrapper of claim 16 wherein the predetermined denomination is selected from among pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, 50-cent pieces, and US-dollar coins.

45           18. The coin wrapper of claim 16 wherein the predetermined denomination quarters.

- 19. The coin wrapper of claim 10 wherein the predetermined denomination is selected from among pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, 50-cent pieces, and US-dollar coins.
- 5      20. A tubular coin wrapper having an edge at a receiving end thereof, wherein the edge includes at least one angled portion adapted to facilitate the insertion of the receiving end of the coin wrapper into a coin-filled tube.

10